"WIRELESS."

A STORY OF ELEVEN YEARS' PROGRESS.

Today Mr. Marconi lectures at the Royal Institution on "Transatlantic Wireless Telegraphy," writes a correspondent in the London Morning Leader of 13th March. Since his invention was first brought before that institution by Sir William Preece, in June, 1897, astonishing progress has been made. At that time Mr. Marconi had succeeded in sending messages across the Bristol Channel between Penarth and Weston-super-Mare—a distance of nine miles. He gradually increased the distance to 14 miles (between Alum Bay and Bournemouth) in April, 1898; to 30 miles, when he reported the result of the yacht race at the Kingstown Regatta a few weeks later, and to 33 miles, when he sent messages between Dover and Boulogne during the meeting of the British and French Associations for the Advancement of Science in the autumn of 1899.

Today his system is maintaining regular communication in both directions with all the principal Atlantic liners up to at least 200 miles from shore; and is transmitting messages to many of them half-way across the Atlantic from Faldhu, in Cornwall; while for nearly four months he has carried on a service between Clifden, in the West of Ireland, and Glace Bay, in Nova Scotia, transmitting 1,000 words a day with singular freedom from error.

True, as we prophesied before this service began, it has not interfered, and is not likely to interfere, with the cable companies' business. The twelve cables between this country and America carry each, on the average, 10,000 words a day, so that the wireless service must multiply its output tenfold before it equals a single cable. But, when every allowance is made, it remains a triumph of science of which the twentieth century may well be proud that telegraphic signals thrown into the ether on the Irish coast can be received distinctly and accurately 2,500 miles away.

GIRDING THE EARTH.

Nor is Marconi the only inventor to share in these marvels. The "Telefunken" station at Nauas, near Berlin, maintains Faldhu in keeping in touch with vessels in the middle of the Atlantic; a French Government station at the Eiffel Tower maintains communication with Casablanca, in Morocco, 1,000 miles away; and De Forest stations in the United States, Cuba, and Panama are said to be equally efficient. Even ships—which are more limited than shore stations in the power which they employ—are sending messages up to extraordinary distances, 700 or 800 miles being frequently covered. The French cruiser Kibber, stationed at Casablanca, transmits messages regularly to the Eiffel Tower.

A system of purely British origin, that of Sir Oliver Lodge and Dr. Alexander Muirhead, is making steady progress in various parts of the world. To give one example only of its commercial success—the system has been working uninterruptedly for some years between the Andaman Islands and Burma, a distance of 300 miles, transmitting on the average 1,000 words a day.

One indication of the rapid progress of wireless telegraphy generally is to be found in the development of "tuning." "Untuned" systems, which were the rule up to 1901 or later, are now quite obsolete. The untuned or "whip-cable" system emits its energy into the ether in the form of sparks which produce waves of great intensity, rapidly dying away. The "tuned" system, on the other hand, emits trains of waves of smaller intensity, which die away less quickly. The difference is analogous to that between a note struck loudly on a damped piano string and a note struck more softly on the same string, but with the pedal down.

IN "TUNE."

The effect of a tuned transmitter on a distant receiver tuned to the same "note" is greater than that of an untuned transmitter, because although the waves are less intense, they are more lasting; while the effect on a receiver which is tuned to a different "note" is less, and interference is thus greatly reduced. As a result of tuning, messages from different stations can now be received simultaneously by stations quite close together, even although the difference between the "wave-lengths" used may be as little as 1 per cent.

Some success—but less—has been achieved in directing the waves, which are usually emitted equally in all directions. Marconi endeavours to secure this end by using "antennae," which are partially horizontal, the waves being transmitted with greatest intensity in the direction in which the free end of the antennae points. The "Bellini-Testi" directive system is another recent invention. In the usual type of sparking circuit the sparks pass between the insulated antennae and an "earthed" wire; but in the Bellini-Testi sparking circuit the free end of the antennae and the earthed wire are brought round and joined, so as to constitute a closed ring—closed, that is to say, except for the spark-gap—and it is claimed that waves emitted by this type of circuit have greatest intensity in the plane of the ring, and little or none at right angles to it.

But the great discovery of the last two years has been the means of producing practically continuous waves. Here, again, the analogy of sound may help us. We cannot produce a perfectly continuous note on the piano, even with the pedal down, because the intensity of the waves begins to die away before we can strike the note again. In order to produce a continuous note we want an organ-pipe or similar instrument. And in wireless telegraphy it has, until recently, been impossible to repeat the sparks rapidly enough to make the wave-trains continuous—that is to say, one train has practically died away before the next has begun.

WIRELESS TELEPHONE.

Now this is changed. Poulsen, by means of an electric arc in hydrogen gas, claims to have produced waves of comparatively small intensity, but absolutely continuous. The German "Telefunken" Company make a similar claim; while Marconi, Feenstedt, and De Forest have apparently achieved a like effect by mechanical means—i.e. by the extremely rapid repetition of sparks.

The production of continuous waves has made wireless telephony possible. So long as the trains of waves were separated by blank intervals of longer or shorter duration, the extremely rapid vibrations of the human voice could not be impressed on them. But already, since the date of Poulsen's invention, several systems of wireless telephony have appeared. The "Telefunken" Company have put on the market sets of wireless telephonic apparatus guaranteed up to 16 miles. The United States battleship fleet, which has just reached the Pacific, is equipped with similar apparatus on the De Forest system, capable of transmitting speech up to 25 miles. Feenstedt states that his system has been successful up to 200 miles; while speech has been exchanged on the Poulsen system between Berlin and Lyngby, in Denmark—about 250 miles.

The significance of this will appear from the fact that cables of more than 60 or 70 miles in length are useless for telephonic purposes. Sensational claims are to be deprecated, but, although "wireless" can never supersede wires for a complicated exchange system, it is a sober sense to say that Transatlantic wireless telephony is just as likely to come ten years hence as Transatlantic wireless telegraphy was ten years ago.

STATE VISIT OF THE FRENCH PRESIDENT TO LONDON.

The King will open the Franco-British Exhibition at Shepherd's Bush, on a date early in May; and M. Fallières, the President of the French Republic, has accepted his Majesty's invitation to accompany him on the occasion.

M. Fallières' visit will be one of State, and is to extend over several days, in the course of which the President will be entertained by the Corporation of the City of London at a dinner at the Guildhall, and be made the recipient of an address of welcome enclosed in a gold casket.

It is understood that the King invited the French President to visit England on the occasion when his Majesty was last in Paris, prior to his short stay in the French capital when on his way to Biarritz.

The visit to Shepherd's Bush will be in full State, and arrangements for the reception of the King and the President are now being made by the Duke of Argyll, who is the honorary president of the Exhibition. A special Royal Pavilion is to be erected, and nothing will be left undone to invest the occasion with the dignity befitting its importance and significance. The King and the President will, on arrival, be received by the Duke of Argyll, and a number of members of the committee, which includes the Earl of Derby (president of the Exhibition), the Right Hon. R. McKenna, M.P. (hon. president, Education Section), the Right Hon. John Sinclair, M.P. (hon. vice-president Education Section), the Right Hon. Herbert Gladstone, M.P. (hon. president Social Economy Section), Earl Carrington (hon. president Agricultural and Horticultural Section), the Right Hon. D. Lloyd-George, M.P. (hon. president Engineering and Shipping Section), the Earl of Elgin (hon. president Colonial Section), the Earl of Minto (hon. president Indian Section), the Right Hon. John Burns, M.P. (hon. president Surface Transport Section), the Earl of Plymouth (hon. president Decorative Arts Section), and the following:

The Archbishop of Canterbury, the Earl of Jersey, Viscount Kintore, The Duke of Bedford, Lord Avebury, The Duke of Devonshire, Lord Rothschild, The Marquis of Lansdowne, Lord Strathcona, Earl Cadogan, Lord Mayor of London.

Earl Cromer, The Rt. Hon. Sir Earl Eglon of Tatton, Earnest Cassel. Special arrangements will be put in hand to enable his Majesty and his illustrious guests to make a tour of the Exhibition with the greatest possible ease; it is thought that the King will be accompanied by the Queen, and the President by Madame Fallières.

During their stay in London the French President and Madame Fallières will occupy York House, St. James's Palace. They will probably be given a naval reception by the Channel Fleet on landing at Dover, and the King will be present at Victoria on their arrival and will drive with them to St. James's Palace by a "processional" route yet to be arranged.

The President will be accompanied to London by M. Pichon, Minister of Foreign Affairs. There had long been talk of such a visit, and when King Edward was in Paris it was settled during his meetings with M. Fallières. It is, in the meanwhile, taken for granted that this visit will be official, and that the entire programme will be practically identical with that of the visit paid by M. Loubet.

M. Fallières is a warm friend and a staunch supporter of the entente cordiale, the very genesis of which he regarded with infinite satisfaction, considering it to be a potent factor towards the maintenance of the general peace. His career has been very interesting. Some years ago he was for a brief time Prime Minister, as M. Loubet also had been, though for a longer term, and when M. Loubet vacated the Presidency of the Senate for that of the Republic, M. Fallières was chosen to replace him at the Luxembourg; holding that office for seven consecutive years, until he was elected by the Congress assembled at Versailles to succeed M. Loubet in the chief office of the State.

There are many points of similarity between the ex-President and his successor. Each comes from the South of France, which has given so many prominent statesmen to the Republic. Each is fond of rural life, and of agricultural pursuits. Each, again, is very domestic, devoted to his home, and of simple habits. Like his predecessor, M. Fallières begins the day with a long walk, often taken in the direction of the Bois de Boulogne, and since M. Loubet left the Elysée I have often met him, too, enjoying his constitutional. Conversation is tact, sound sense, and ripe judgment are also the distinguishing features of the two statesmen, who, like so many others who have come to the fore in politics in this country, began their careers with legal training and practice—an excellent school of aptitude in debate.

BEST TIME TO WIND A WATCH.
At a recent meeting of the British Watch and Clock Makers' Guild, a somewhat novel question was discussed. A member said he was often asked by his customers whether it was better to wind a watch at night or in the morning.

Several members were of opinion that the winding should be done at night, as in the morning the atmosphere would be colder, and more brittle than after the watch had been carried about in the pocket all day.

Mr. Wright, the vice-president, on the other hand, thought it was a decided advantage to wind up a watch in the morning. During the daytime the watch was carried about and subjected to all kinds of irregular conditions, which it was better able to withstand when fully wound. At night the watch was usually laid on one side in a horizontal position, and was at rest, as it were, therefore its running down did not affect it so much.

This view of the case was agreed to by the majority of the members of the trade present.

SOLDIER STORIES.

NO 1.

WITH THE FLAG IN BRITISH INDIA.

A retired British soldier, Mr. Byron Whitehead of Leicester, has been telling his experiences with the Army "out East" just lately, and, whilst his enthusiasm, for tropical sights and sounds does not equal that of the hero of Kipling's song "Mandalay", he has much that is interesting and valuable to record. It was to a journalist belonging to the staff of an important English newspaper that Mr. Whitehead related the following particulars of his life's history.

"I was reared in barracks, and when in later years I enlisted, my military service led me to many countries. For years I served in India; also twelve months in Aden (a spot deserted by every soldier) then in Burma, and finally I went through the South African War with the 2nd Lincolnshire.

"This long and active service told on me at last in the form of various ailments, but the worst enemy I had to face was a disordered liver, with acute indigestion. These complaints reduced me to such a state of general weakness that had it not been for Dr. Williams' pink pills, for pale people I should have been a broken man. I fell away and became so bilious," Mr. Whitehead continued, "that I could hardly see at a short distance. Without warning I was often attacked by dizziness and swimming sensation in my head. Sometimes I even reeled and fell. My liver became so sluggish and torpid, and my digestion so weak, that the least food was nauseating. After swallowing solid food agonising pains shot through my chest and stomach, doubling me up. Dark specks floated before my eyes, and an acid, bitter taste arose from the stomach. My tongue for weeks was coated with a dark, yellow substance, and my breathing very short. After my retirement from the Army these troubles became daily more aggravated. Indigestion shattered and so wrecked my nerves that the least sound made me tremble. Violent headaches and pains down my spine, followed with sleepless nights. When I lay down I dozed off for a while, but could not sleep. Before arising I sometimes had a cup of tea brought to me in bed, often I hadn't strength enough to hold the cup in my hands. My body became restless, and from a strong, robust, active man I dwindled away to a wreck, unfit for any work. I could only walk by the aid of sticks. After the least exercise I was punished with cruel aches under my shoulders. I became melancholy and irritable, and friends avoided my company as much as I through nervousness avoided them. Each day indigestion and biliousness gained a firm hold, and my weakness increased alarmingly. My blood became like water, and my face grew drawn and haggard. I sought advice, and changed my medicines, but my stomach was so weak that sickness followed each dose. I then went under clever doctors, who prescribed for my stomach and liver. I took their medicine for some time, but still felt no better.

I was giving up in despair when one of my only comrades called and advised me to try Dr. Williams' pink pills for pale people, and insisted that they would cure me. I obtained a bottle of the pills, and took them, feeling encouraged to persevere after I had taken its contents. I began to feel more rested and contented, and my pains less gradually as I continued taking Dr. Williams' pink pills. I began to eat more heartily, and could take exercise without feeling fatigued. After a few more bottles of Dr. Williams' pink pills I lost all indigestion and bilious troubles, and my blood got splendidly rich and pure. I felt vigorous, and as well as could be. I am now quite cured and free from all aches and pains. I have never had indigestion or liver complaint since Dr. Williams' pink pills for pale people made a new man of me."

It may be added that Mr. Byron Whitehead's full address is 6 Seymour Cottages, Great Central Street, Leicester, England. Dr. Williams' pink pills for pale people have cured malaria, anaemia, liver complaint, indigestion, rheumatism, beri-beri, eczema and skin diseases, nervous disorders, paralysis, and ladies' ailments. They are obtainable at most shops where medicines are sold and direct from the Dr. Williams' medicine Co., Singapore, who send six bottles for eight dollars or one bottle for one dollar fifty cents, post free. Beware of imitations and substitutes, which are always useless and sometimes dangerous.

THE Directors of the Central Stores, Ltd. are prepared to receive applications for Tls. 250,000 8 per cent debentures, terminable in ten years from the 30th day of June 1908, but redeemable by the Company in 5 years from that date or at any time after such 5 years on giving 6 calendar months' previous notice in writing. These debentures are issued by the Directors in pursuance of a resolution passed by them at a meeting held at the Company's office on the 17th day of April, 1908. With the sum raised it is intended to pay off all the existing outstanding debentures of the Company of Tls. 100,000 issued in favour of the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation and to employ the balance in the expense of completing the building and fittings of the Palace Hotel fronting the Bund, Shanghai. The present issue of Tls. 250,000 will rank as a first charge on the said property of the Company held on a lease to the Company for a term of which 48 years and 9 months are still unexpired including the buildings and a floating charge on the other property and undertaking of the Company as carried on upon the said premises and will be secured by a Deed of Trust and mortgage to be hereafter executed being a first mortgage of the said leasehold property buildings and undertaking of the Company to Messrs. Alexander McLeod and Duncan McNeil as Trustees for the Debenture holders. The present issue of debentures will be at par in sums of Tls. 1,000, Tls. 500 and Tls. 100 as may suit the convenience of applicants. They will bear interest at the rate of 8 per cent per annum and will rank among themselves pari passu.

The first instalment of interest calculated from the day of payment will be paid on the 30th day of June, 1908 and thereafter half-yearly on the 30th day of June and the 31st day of December. Applications should be filed in and sent to the Company's Bankers the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation accompanied by the amount of the debentures applied for.

Applications will be received up to the 31st day of May, 1908 and will be dealt with on that day and should any such debentures remain unsold for, subsequent allotments thereof will be made and carry interest from the date of issue. Bankers' receipts to the applicant will be issued for the amount of his debentures and exchanged for debentures if an allotment is made. Forms of application can be obtained at the office of the Company or at the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation and the Deed of Trust and mortgage of Debenture can be seen at the office of Messrs. HONGKONG, MONDAY, APRIL 20, 1908.

A JAPANESE CANARD.

An important and significant feature of the boycott instituted by the Chinese in the Southern Provinces against the importation and purchase of Japanese wares has been the remarkably peaceable and orderly manner in which it has been carried out. When the Chinese first employed the boycott system as a means of retaliation against the wrongs they fancied, rightly or otherwise, they had suffered at the hands of the United States they became so elated at the discovery of this new way of securing redress that they were inclined to indulge in unorthodox methods of forwarding the movement. That they were successful for a time there cannot be the slightest shadow of a doubt, but these very methods were calculated to lead to international complications, for the simple reason that they implicated the Imperial Government of China as a party to the boycott, and thereby brought the leaders under the ban of the law. That general plan of campaign against the introduction of American products died a natural death when it was found that the United States Government were sincerely desirous of conciliating Chinese feeling, and, therefore, there was little or no occasion for the Government of China to show in what way the national movement would have been repressed. In the present instance, however, the Chinese people adopted a new form of tactics with the obvious intent that the Government should not be embarrassed in any respect. It was their clear purpose to prosecute their system without having recourse to the agitator's scheme of propaganda work, seeking rather to secure the adhesion of the people by constitutional forms, instead of issuing inflammatory placards and delivering fiery speeches likely to arouse the worst instincts of the ignorant masses of the population. They kept within the letter of the law, offering no loophole which could afford the Japanese any justifiable grounds for demanding interference on the part of the Chinese Government. They simply stood on their rights and declared in effect that if they did not wish to purchase Japanese goods nobody, not even the Emperor himself, could compel them to do so. If they had been students of constitutional history all their lives the leaders could not have acted with more prudence and circumspection, for it is one thing to quell a movement which may be alleged to be on the verge of assuming national proportions and calculated to enter channels which may ultimately swamp the constituted authority of the Empire, and a totally different thing to proscribe the intangible and elusive. That the Japanese recognise the real facts of the situation cannot be gainsaid for a moment, else why should they make vague insinuations against the attitude of foreign merchants? Why should they deem it necessary to send out missionaries to preach against the evils of the boycott as it affects Japan? Why should they seek to propitiate the Chinese by proclaiming their kinship? And if that kinship is so very real, why is it so little understood in Manchuria? One of the latest tales circulated in Japan is to the effect that the Ewo and Taikoo Sugar Companies are sending representatives to the southern and northern coasts with the object of inducing the populace to drive Japanese sugar out of the market. It need scarcely be said that such a statement must be founded on the shallowest of suspicions; that, in fact, it is a pure concoction, or, shall we say, the hallucination of a perturbed mind. Of course, the idea is to persuade the unthinking reader that the foreign manufacturer is bolting up, to the best of his ability, the boycott of Japanese goods by Chinese merchants, and not satisfied with the progress already recorded is actually engaged in the active encouragement of the propaganda. Were such really the case then it would be time for the Powers to take up the matter and sternly assist in repressing the misdirected energy of a commercial community which had become wilfully blind to its international obligations. But the assertion has not a leg to stand on. The message in question, as it appears in the Japanese vernacular Press, states that the Taikoo Company is expending 50,000 yen in the effort to secure the expulsion of Japanese goods from the Southern and Northern markets, while the Ewo Company is spending a still greater sum for the same purpose. And this at a time when the manufacturers in question are straining every nerve in order to cope with the demand! If purchases were hanging back and the market was overstocked, it is possible to conceive that there might be at least a sub-statum of truth in the story of foreign-subsidized boycott representatives, but the facts are directly contrary to such an assumption. Moreover, it cannot be asserted that the boycott has spread to the North; it is confined almost exclusively to the Southern Provinces, where it originated, and where the demand for Japanese sugar as against the product of foreign refineries is regulated not so much by personal reasons as by the desire to obtain the best article at a price which compares more than favourably with the Japanese product. In fact it is all a matter of quality, and the foreign manufacturers, to be precise the Hongkong refineries in this instance, produce the highest standard of sugar sold in the Chinese Market. It is absurd, therefore, to contend that because the Chinese give preference to the better article they are being instigated to prosecute the boycott through the machinations of British or other foreign producers.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

* * * This publication of this issue commenced at 1.30 p.m. to-day.

MR. MORIKAWA, lately Japanese Consul at Vancouver, has been appointed to Hongkong.

THE S.S. Yuen Kiang Maru is expected to be refitted in a few days; she has been ashore all the winter near Changsha.

THE Russian Governor of the Amur district has published a notice prohibiting the entry of foreign labourers except Chinese.

SAYS the Tientsin Critic:—Cement in large quantities is now arriving here from Hongkong, 1,500 drums having arrived by the Chipping, which also brought up over 10,000 packages of sugar.

A TOKIO despatch of 15th inst. says:—The proposed reduction of cotton yarns is exciting very mixed comment. Some parties denounce the idea as short-sighted. The sugar refinery companies are also conferring together with a view to the prevention of over-production of sugar.

THE P. & T. Times says that the Chinese Government is now making the same request to the Consuls at Tientsin as was recently put forward in Shanghai, namely, for the right to arrest Chinese criminals or political offenders in any of the Concessions without an order from the Consuls.

THE Ministry of Posts and Communications is reported to have issued instructions to the Maritime Customs that no dynamite shall be allowed to be imported into China, and that, in the event that the explosive is intended for mining purposes, permission must first be obtained from the Ministry concerned.

VICE-Admiral the Hon. Sir Hedworth Lambton transferred his flag this morning from H.M.S. King Alfred to the Alacrity preparatory to his departure, to-morrow, for Shanghai via Amoy and Foochow. It is expected that the fleet will follow the Commander-in-Chief later on. Meanwhile his flagship—the King Alfred—has gone into docks for overhaul.

H. E. YANG CH'U, formerly Chinese Minister to Japan, has addressed to the Throne a memorial in which he makes the following three suggestions:—

- (1) To send diplomatists to foreign countries to study jurisprudence.
- (2) To extend ample protection to Chinese residing, or working abroad.
- (3) To cut the queue and change the national costume.

In view of the probability that Sir Robert Hart will remain in Shanghai for some days en route from Peking to England, informal representations have been made desiring that he will permit some form of public expression of appreciation of his eminent services and of the lasting results of his work in China. In reply, Sir Robert Hart has telegraphed his appreciation of the proposal, at the same time regretting that health considerations force him to decline any public entertainment or function.

A COOLIE, about twenty-three years of age, was removed to hospital by the West Point police last night to have his injuries, which he had received in an accident, treated. The man, whose name is still not known, was standing at the junction of Hollywood Road and Queen's Road West at about seven o'clock last evening when he was knocked down by a bicycle ridden by an Indian policeman. When picked up his legs were found to be badly lacerated. He is expected to remain in hospital for several days. His injuries, however, are not considered serious.

THE Cantonese Guild and other prominent members of the Canton community residing in Shanghai gave a banquet on 18th inst. to his Honour Tai Nai-huang, the Taitai, the Vice of the Bureau of Foreign Affairs, on the Building Wall Road being kindly lent for the purpose. There were also theatricals, leading actors of the Hupoh Road theatres being engaged to play during the banquet. We may also state en passant that the members of the Consular Body in Shanghai called on his Honour at the Bureau on Saturday, in return for the formal visit of the Taitai a few days previously. Tai Taitai, we may further add, has retained on his staff Messrs. Quaintance, Chen Shih-kwang, the French and English interpreters respectively, of the Taitai's C.D. office.

New Dock Tug.

THE "DAVID GILLIES" MAIDEN RUN.

TUG, FIREFLOAT AND SALVAGE STEAMER COMBINED.

For the first time yesterday forenoon, the new tug built for and by the Hongkong and Whampoa Dock Co., Ltd., was seen speeding across the harbour on her maiden run. Her high bow, twin black funnels and low stern gave her all the conspicuous outlines which make the new tug prominent among the large and varied aggregation of shipping in the harbour of Hongkong. A long trail of heavy black smoke, which was prevented from ascending high into the clouds, by the density of the atmosphere hanging over the harbour yesterday, drew attention to the beautiful craft which is yet another testimony to the shipbuilding capabilities of the Colony which is steadily and surely making for itself a name among the industrial centres of the world. In the same way as Hongkong stands pre-eminently in the manufacturing rank with its largest sugar-refineries, cement factories, and rope-works, so also will it, in course of time, attain to that position of distinction in the shipbuilding trade, when it stands no longer penalised for its raw material when her next door neighbour—or even the hinterland of the island—is capable of yielding its coal, iron ore and finished steel plates wherewith the future steamships treading the Far Eastern seas will be shaped into being at the yards at Hougham.

The new tug took a little over eleven months in building. Her construction was commenced on the 7th May last year. On the 30th January last she was christened by Mrs. Henry Keewick (wife of the Honourable Mr. Henry Keewick) the David Gillies. The new tug replaces the Robert Cooke, her predecessor, which was wrecked on the 1st of March about two years ago. Unlike the Robert Cooke which was only a powerful tug, the subject of our notice was designed and has been fitted to perform the functions of a tug, fire-extinguisher and salvage steamer combined. The David Gillies is built of steel, and is supplied with a set of triple expansion engines, and has twin screws. Her dimensions are: length between perpendiculars 150 ft. breadth, moulded, 27 ft.; and depth, moulded, 14 ft. 6 in. Her mean draft is 10 ft. 9 in. Her engines are of the inverted, vertical, triple expansion, surface condensing type; the diameter of cylinders are 23", 22", and 33", and length of stroke 30". The two boilers are cylindrical return tubular and are built of mild steel, their diameter being 15' 6" and length 10' 6". Their working pressure is 180 lbs. to the inch. As will be seen from the foregoing brief specifications the machinery contained in the hull of the David Gillies is more than ordinarily powerful for a vessel of her size; but, as stated on the occasion of her successful launching, her builders have anticipated the advent of the larger ocean freighters and passenger carriers which are sure to make Hongkong a terminal port when the Pacific trade shall have attained the proportions which its development in the not distant future now promises. Of great power, the tug is capable of steaming at the rate of twelve knots an hour. A special feature of the David Gillies is the powerful salving pumps with several of which she is provided. The largest of these is a twelve-inch centrifugal pump by Drysdale. The pumping capacity is estimated at 3,750 gallons per minute, equivalent to 1,000 tons per hour. For supplying divers with air when working under water there is on board a pump of Siebe, Gonsam & Co.'s make, driven by steam and able to supply air to two divers at the same time. The electric installation is capable of establishing connection with lamps for divers whenever required. Pneumatic tools will supersede hand labour for the boring of holes, rock-blasting in salvage operations or for rivetting plates and for the efficient working of that special class of tools there is a set of air compressors on board.

Not the least important and certainly the most valuable as far as the large shipping interests of the port are concerned is the equipment for extinguishing fires on board ships in harbour which has been fitted up on the David Gillies. The fire-engine is from the well-known firm of makers—Merryweather & Sons, its capability of coping with a volume of 750 gallons of water per minute, throwing up a continuous stream 125 ft. high. With such pressure the David Gillies should render invaluable service, in case of emergency, on any outbreak of fire in any of the larger godowns on the waterfront whether on the island or at Kowloon. The Dock Co. is to be congratulated on their addition of the appliances for protecting the shipping against the risks of fire whilst in port.

The David Gillies is under the command of Capt. Major. The new tug has the distinction in that her first requisition for service was made this forenoon when she towed H.M.S. King Alfred, flagship of the British Commander-in-Chief on this station, into dock for her usual overhaul.

A MURGLARY is reported as having taken place at No. 50, Wing Lok Street—the residence of a merchant named Kwong Kim Chan. At about two o'clock on Sunday morning a man gained admittance to the house by picking the lock of the front door. Then, quietly creeping into the room, the burglar, believing that his actions were not watched, proceeded to search the premises. Near an unoccupied bed, he found a portmanteau, and he was in the act of leaving the house with it when he was seized on the landing and handed over to a policeman, who took him to the Central Police station. The portmanteau contained clothing and other valuables to the value of about $50. The accused, who gave the name of Chang Chai, was charged before Mr. J. R. Wood, at the Police Court, yesterday with burglary and theft. He was sentenced to six weeks' hard labour and six months' imprisonment.

The Japanese Boycott.

FEELING AT WUCHOW.

TAOTAI'S PROCLAMATION.

From Wuchow we learn that the boycott movement is going on quietly but steadily. Several proclamations have been issued by the Taotai that no meetings would be allowed. The leaders of the movement have answered that no more meetings will be held as they are unnecessary; public feeling will do the needful. Quantities of Japanese goods are being hurried further inland both from Canton and Wuchow, as the merchants think they can unload their stocks up-country before the movement has caught on there, too.

OPINION IN TOKIO.

Tokio, April 15.
The Nichi-Nichi Shinbun deprecates the boycott of Japanese goods in China as a piece of misguided and suicidal anti-foreignism. The same journal also denounces the sale of bonus-bearing Japanese yarns as short-sighted. A few papers allege that some foreigners are instigating the boycott.—N. C. D. News.

FOOTBALL SHIELD.

HONGKONG'S VICTORY.

After a very keen game with the Bedford's, the Hongkong Football Club emerged from the Shield competition with honours on Saturday afternoon. Owing to the indifferent condition of the weather the attendance was not so large as was anticipated. Nevertheless, supporters appeared in strong numbers, and each team was accorded a warm welcome on entering the field. The ground was rather heavy owing to the recent downfall. The home team won the toss, and the sailormen proceeded to attack. Enthusiasm ran high throughout the game and at half-time the score stood at two all. At this stage, soon after the re-start, Hongkong exhibited some pretty play; the dribbling and passing were excellent. The sailors' combination fell off somewhat in the second half, but they managed to give the club some trying times when at close range. The Club ward off every attack, and, at the eleventh hour, so to speak, netted their second and last goal amid loud cheers. At the finish the score was 2-1. The winning team then assembled in front of the crowded pavilion where the presentation of the shield and medals was made by Mrs. G. C. C. Master. Mr. Aucott, the captain of the Club team, in returning thanks to Mrs. Master, said:—On behalf of the members of the Hongkong Football Club I thank you very sincerely, Mrs. Master, for coming down and presenting the medals and shield to us this afternoon. The Club has a fine team, and I believe it is the best team that we have had for many years. There has been keen rivalry for the Shield, but I think that amongst the many players the utmost good feeling has existed. I believe that the final of the Crystal Palace contest has been played to-day, or will be played next Saturday, and a great deal of enthusiasm will be displayed on that occasion, but I dare say quite as much enthusiasm has been shown in this match to-day. We have won the Shield after a very keen contest, and it is a matter for congratulation since ten years have elapsed since the Club last won the Shield, and I hope that another ten years will not elapse before we get it again. I thank you very much for your kindness. I ask everyone to give three hearty cheers for Mr. and Mrs. Master. Continuing he said: There is one thing I would like to do, to refer to the splendid game which the Bedford's played to-day. They put up a most plucky fight, and I can say that there was very little difference. Their play was marked by its dogged perseverance, and they worked hard throughout the whole of the competition. It was not thought that they would come out so well but they have shown their merit. They are true sportsmen and played one of the best matches in the Shield contest. Three cheers and a "tiger" for the Bedford's. This concluded the ceremony.

Russia and Macedonia.

The Duma have debated the Foreign estimates.

M. Ivolys, referring to Macedonia, emphasized Russia's desire not to "infringe on the Sultan's sovereignty, and not to provoke an armed conflict, as Russia needed peace to restore her scattered energies."

Sir Edward Grey's answer to the Russian proposal has made a final agreement hopeful.

Great Britain has dropped two important points, namely, the appointment of a Governor-General, and a reduction of the Turkish troops.

The Japan Herald states that the appeal of Frank Pratt, describing himself as the correspondent of a certain American paper, who was sentenced by the Yokohama District Court to eight months' imprisonment for fraud in January, was dismissed on Tuesday. When the judgement was rendered, the accused attempted to fling a chair at the presiding judge, add, on a prison warder interfering, the accused furiously assailed him. He was ultimately overpowered and removed to the cells.

The Taku and Lower Co.'s new tender the Yungshui is a smart little steel vessel 130 feet long with a beam of 23 feet and a draught of 6 feet mean. She is fitted with twin direct acting compound surface condensing engines developing 800 horse power and driving the vessel with ordinary pattern twin screws at a speed of 12 knots. The hull and engines are the work of the Vulcan Iron Works, Ltd., Shanghai, and the boilers only were imported from Europe. The cabins are paneled in teak and are upholstered with brown leather, the work of Messrs. Weeks & Co., Ltd., Shanghai, and the vessel is fitted with electric light throughout. Above the saloon and staterooms is a roomy promenade deck fitted with seats, and broad staircases lead from this deck to the main deck. In addition to her ordinary work as a tender she is fitted for towing purposes and will also probably be in great demand for picnic excursions during the summer months, for which she is especially adapted.

The Hankow Floods.

AFTER THE EVENT.

A FATAL ERROR.

The more we learn about the Han river catastrophe of Monday night, writes a correspondent newly arrived in Shanghai from the scene of disaster, the more appalling does it appear to have been, reports the N. C. D. News of the 15th inst. Down at Yanglo, sixty li below Hankow, the river takes a sharp bend, and on the North bank there is a backwash where flotsam accumulates. Up to date, no less than eighteen hundred bodies have been taken out of the water at that one place. The authorities, after being criminally careless with regard to the living, are paying special attention to the dead. For every body recovered they pay a reward of eight hundred cash, and offer two thousand cash for every one rescued alive. The various benevolent halls are all hard at work providing coffins, and notices are issued calling on relatives to go down and claim the bodies. Of these, however, there are few, as the bulk of the drowned were strangers from a distance. Among the dead are many women, some of them well dressed and also not a few children. One man was salvaged with four children lashed to him and one of them, a boy about twelve years old, was still alive after being a day in the water. Thirteen hundred boat masts have been recovered at Yanglo.

COLLAPSE OF A STREET.

On the night of the 7th inst. half a street on the right bank of the Han, consisting of about a hundred houses, collapsed and disappeared in the river in an instant. The people had all gone to bed as usual, and only one family escaped. It was the Cheng family who lived near the Yu Hwang Koh—ten people in all. In the middle of the night they were suddenly awakened by some one knocking and shouting "Get up quickly." They thought it was a fire and rushed from the house when the whole street instantly disappeared. They saw nobody, and do not know to what supernatural intervention their deliverance was due. The native reporter wonders if it was a god or a devil.

The papers are full of notes like these:—At the Lung Wang Miao a large Szechuen junk was ready to start with over thirty people on board when she was sunk and the whole of them drowned. At the Ta Ma-tou there were fifty rice boats, and all went under, of their crews only thirteen men escaped. A mandarin boat, with the mandarin and his family on board, was carried into the middle of the Yangtze where the waves ran mountains high, and nothing has been seen of mandarin or boat since. Five great junks have been recovered intact and notice given for the owners to come and claim them—no one has turned up. At Yang-chiao there were eleven boats loaded with bricks, and with about seventy people on board—no trace remains of either men or boats. At Chichiatui there were three boats with fifteen hundred piculs of rice—cargo, crews and boats all lost. A fleet of boats laden with cash intended for the purchase of tea up country put into the Han that night fearing a storm—nothing remains of them. The value of the coin on board was upwards of Tls. 200,000. A merchant of the name of Shen had goods on the river to the value of Tls. 150,000 and has lost it all. And so on through a long list.

THE FATAL ERROR.

It is now stated that the original telegram, whose error and delay was the cause of the disaster, should have reported a freshet of twenty-six feet at Siang-yang, instead of six feet. When it reached Hankow it still showed a head of six feet. The delay was due, it is said, to a certain functionary being out when the telegram was delivered, so it was put aside unopened. Following that the gong men did not go out to give the warning when they got their instructions. Thus the story now runs that the telegram clerk inadvertently wired a six feet freshet instead of twenty-six; then the telegram was not attended to when it came to hand, and finally the gong men dawdled. It is comforting to know that these men—the gong men to wit—have been dismissed. The whole is a good sample of the slack way in which things are managed in China.

It has been raining incessantly for the last week. The rains are very widespread and the Yangtze is rising rapidly. The people predict a dreadful flood this year, as sixty years ago in the year Wu-shen there was such a flood that the tops of the houses in Hankow could hardly be seen. This is Wu-shen year again and everybody knows that it is only the designation of the year, but the events is well that repeat in China.

U. S. COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF.

ARRIVAL AT HONGKONG.

CANTON-HANKOW RAILWAY.

RESIGNATION OF CHIEF ENGINEER.

[From Our Own Correspondent.]

Canton, 17th April, 1908.

As a meeting of shareholders of the Canton-Hankow Railway Company has been arranged to take place on the 15th day of the 5th moon for the purpose of discussing matters in connection with the proposed establishment of a Railway Bank, the payment of interest to shareholders, and the construction of branch lines by the Company, the Company will issue tickets to applicants for admission to the meeting from the 1st day of the 4th moon to the 30th of the same month, after which date no tickets will be issued. It will be remembered that there has always been disturbance at the meetings of shareholders of the Company during the past two years. Now, under the good management of Sir Chun Tung Liang Cheng, who is at present president of the Company, the working of the Company is found to have been carried on smoothly so far, and the bad feeling of one party of shareholders against the other has also diminished, so the forthcoming meeting is expected to pass off with very success.

Great progress has been made on the construction of the Canton-Hankow Railway and if it continues so, the whole line from Canton to Hankow may be expected to be completed within a period under present estimate. To the exceptional ability and untiring energy of the Chief Engineer in this expedition entirely due. It is, therefore, with great regret that it is learnt that Taotai Kwong, engineer in chief, is desirous of relinquishing his position and has, yesterday, tendered his resignation. On receipt of Kwong's letter, the directors of the Company at once sent him a reply stating that his valuable services at present are urgently needed in the construction of the road, and that they are not in a position to accept his resignation. In the reply the directors earnestly requested him to remain in his post and also assured him that his services were not only appreciated by the board of directors but by all the shareholders of the Company.

During the past few weeks the rain has caused some damage to the road of the newly-opened section from Sun Kai to Sim Wah Tim and it now stands in need of immediate repair. While this section is under repair, there will be no train running on it for three days.

S.S. "TIBA KONG" DISABLED.

WUCHOW-NANNING COMMUNICATION INTERRUPTED.

We are informed that the West River has risen twenty feet in three days and is still rising. Communication between Wuchow and Nanning has been seriously interrupted owing to the stoppage of the s.s. Tin Kong, the only steamer trading between Wuchow and Nanning, where she is lying disabled at present.

Mr. T. D. Moorhead, the newly-appointed Commissioner of Customs for Nanning, waited at Wuchow a week and had ultimately to engage a native boat to proceed to his port.

CANTON SHIPPING COMPANY.

PROPOSAL TO BUILD FOUR STEAMERS.

[From Our Own Correspondent.]

Canton, 16th April, 1908.

Yesterday at a meeting held in the office of the proposed Canton Shipping Company eight members were selected to take charge, in turn, of the finances of the Company. Mr. Ya Wan Me, suggested that the Company should, as a trial, build four steamers on the West River. At the meeting it was unanimously decided to build four steamers, of which two will run between Hongkong and Wuchow and the others between Canton and Wuchow.

CHAN Sau, a "boy" in the employ of Mr. J. C. Webb, storekeeper of the Kowloon Docks, was before Mr. J. H. Kemp, this morning, at the Police Court, charged with opening a locked drawer with intent to steal. It would appear that, at breakfast time on Saturday last the accused was seen with a key in his fist standing near a drawer, which contained some money belonging to his employer. When the matter was investigated the drawer was found to have already been opened. The key which was taken from the accused fitted nearly every lock in the house. He was found guilty of the charge and a sentence of six weeks' imprisonment was passed.

VISITORS to Weihaiwei this summer will be pleased to find that the British authorities have made several new roads and that the one leading to the mountain top has been much improved. Several zig-zags have reduced the grades at places where, formerly, the inclines were very steep, and by diverging on to prominent points have much enhanced the splendid views. This road is now eight feet wide and affords good travelling for cyclists. By another road it is now possible to have a fourteen-mile run into the country, passing through a very attractive district. Elsewhere trees have been planted, and thus this delightful summer resort, already so popular owing to its pleasant climate, is being converted into the Spesia of the Far East.

A DISPATCH from Peking states that the Ministry of Posts and Communications has decided upon the establishment of a foreign steamship service which will be divided into four sections. (1) From Shanghai to America via Japan. (2) From Choofoo to Japan via Port Arthur, Newchwang and Korea. (3) From Amoy to Penang via Formosa, and also to Manila and other South Pacific Islands. (4) From Hongkong to Europe. The Head Office will be established in Shanghai. Shares will be canvassed for and Government funds will also be provided. The second and third sections will be established first and the Company will be directed and financed by the Bank of the Ministry of Posts and Communications (China Navigation Bank). It is stated that regulations will be drawn up for the approval of the Board of Directors.

THE YANGTZE WHARF AND GODOWN CO., LD.

ANNUAL MEETING.

The seventh annual general meeting of the shareholders in the above Company, was held at Shanghai on the 15th inst. In the absence of Mr. Charles E. Rayner, Mr. B. Rosenbaum presided. There were also present Messrs. K. Oldorp (director), E. Goetz, F. R. Rogers, C. Hoffmann (Secretary), H. O. White, R. Macgregor, J. Stampf, H. Struver, and I. C. Michael. Total shares represented 1,555.

The Secretary having read the notice convening the meeting, the chairman said: Gentlemen—The General Agents' report and statement of accounts for the past year have been in your hands for some time and with your permission I will take same as read. The balance standing at credit of our working account, unfortunately, reflects the general depression which the trade of Shanghai passed through last year and is less than our balance in 1907 by almost exactly the amount placed by us to relieve at our last general meeting. Fortunately, we have from the preceding prosperous year already accumulated a reserve of Tls. 50,000 equal to 20 per cent paid-up capital.

Your Directors recommend you to begin this year to write down the book value of your buildings, lighters, pontoons and steam-launches, thus strengthening your financial position in another direction, which you are able to do while maintaining your dividend at the customary figure and also carrying forward nearly the same amount as in 1907. I may say in this connection that while we are writing off on our buildings the fact is that they actually stand to book much below replacement cost. Shed E has in the course of the year been altered to a permanent godown with floor well above highest flood level, and is now classed as a first-class risk by the Fire Insurance Association; this accounts for the addition of Tls. 16,670 to the book value of buildings, etc. All buildings, pontoons and lighters have, as usual, been kept in first-class repair and the cost charged to working account.

As regards our Yangtzeop properties I have to disclose to you an important change in the policy followed by your Directors inasmuch as we have decided to liquidate our holdings and have disposed of same at a fair profit which will pass to the credit of the current year and be shown in your next year's report. I wish to say, however, that the purchaser of Lot No. 1 has the right to withdraw from his bargain on forfeiting the sum of Tls. 25,000 and paying one year's interest on the entire purchase price, although it is improbable—in view of its being an advantageous bargain to him for his purposes—that he will avail himself of this right. Circumstances had arisen which satisfied your Directors that it was wise to sell these two properties and I trust you will take my word for it that this step has not been lightly entered upon. The last instalment of the purchase money is due to be paid to us in February next, and anticipating the conclusion of the payments we shall have a further good cash reserve for which we shall certainly find profitable employment.

The wharf's business for this year, so far, although not so good as in previous years, bears favourable comparison with that of other wharves of the port and gives us no cause of alarm. Here is promise of improvement already and April's business is very creditable so far as this Company is concerned. A certain good feature of our Company is the very steady support of our constituents based upon the satisfaction they enjoy by the wharf's good treatment of their interests and in the case of a certain powerful steamship company by close connection of interests with us in our success. Of their continued support we are well assured.

The staff at the wharf have attended to their duties with their customary zeal and deserve your thanks. Before moving the adoption of the report and accounts I shall be pleased to answer any questions which shareholders may wish to put.

Mr. Michael said that the second largest asset of the Company appeared in the balance sheet as "properties Tls. 232,738.05." He asked what this property consisted. Mr. Michael also pointed out that the system of paying yearly dividends was somewhat out of date. Almost every British Company paid an interim and final or a half-yearly dividend. He would like to see the Company adopt this principle.

The chairman said that it was not the custom in Germany to pay interim dividends, in fact it was not allowed by law, but as this was an English Company the matter might be considered by the Directors.

Mr. Stampf thought it much better to leave the matter as it was, as an interim dividend would only mean that people in Shanghai would start gambling in these shares.

The chairman said that he thought it was sounder business to declare a dividend after the report on the year's work was out. With regard to the item of Tls. 232,738.05 for properties, that referred to the two Yangtzeop properties which had been disposed of, but the profit would come into next year's account.

The following resolutions were then put and carried:—

Proposed by the chairman, seconded by Mr. Oldorp: That the Report and Accounts as presented be approved and passed.

Proposed by Mr. Oldorp, seconded by Mr. Coetz: That a dividend of 18 per cent equal to Tls. 18 per share be paid (i.e. the year 1907).

Proposed by Mr. Macgregor, seconded by Mr. Stampf: That Mr. G. Willeumits be re-elected auditor.

The chairman said that dividend warrants would be sent out that afternoon.

"POSITIVE PROOF"

A FOREIGNER AND AN EASTER CAKE.

Shortly after half-past eleven o'clock last night the West Point police arrested a foreigner in the middle of Queen's Road West on a charge of committing a nuisance. The foreigner was returning home from a party in a semi-glorious condition. He carried a large Easter cake, wrapped in a handkerchief, under his arm; and much of his time previous to his arrest was spent in dodging the vehicular traffic and taking up the whole road. When he awoke in a cell at No. 7 Police Station this morning his surprise was great.

"What am I here for?" he queried when he was visited by the officer on duty. "For being drunk?"

"No," was the reply. "You are here for committing a nuisance."

"I know that," the prisoner proceeded. "If I was drunk I couldn't have carried the cake I've the cake, haven't I?"

He seemed greatly relieved to discover that his cake was safe in the hands of the police.

"Do you recollect where you were arrested last night?" the officer jocularly inquired.

"Sure," answered the foreigner. "In a side lane in Les Vaux Road."

He was told that his recollection was bad, that he was picked up in Queen's Road.

"Is that so?" he exclaimed. "But I was not drunk!"

"What were you drinking at the party?" he was next asked. "Samshu?"

"Not samshu. Whisky, brandy, pon, beer, stout shandies—a drop of all sorts. Everybody get drunk at Easter."

He was hailed before Mr. J. R. Wood at the Police Court to-day, and after promising most profusely not to repeat the offence, he was discharged with a caution. The last seen of the foreigner he was making tracks for the charge-room to recover his much coveted cake!

CHINA'S NEW NAVY.

THE REORGANIZATION SCHEME.

Recently the question of the reorganization of the Chinese Navy was again discussed by the Ministry of War. It was stated that the sum of Tls. 10,000,000 should be jointly provided by the Ministries of War and of Finance for the purpose of purchasing battleships from foreign countries and establishing naval bases, and that the annual expenses for upkeep should be equally defrayed by the provincial governments. It is reported that the new Navy will be divided into three sections, viz. the Peiyang, Nanyang and Yueyang (Canton) Fleets. Each fleet will be composed of one large battleship, fifteen large and smaller cruisers, a number of torpedo-boats, dispatch-boats, gunboats and submarines and will be commanded by an admiral. Yelling-kong, in Kwangtung, and Sanmun Bay will be the bases for the Yueyang Fleet; Chusan and Ningpo Sound for the Nanyang Fleet, and Choofoo and Taku for the Peiyang Fleet. An Admiralty will be established, for naval regulations have been drawn up by the Department for the Compilation of Constitutional Laws.
